Photos Wanted for IAPA Competition

The winner of the Access Photograph of the Year at the 2012 International Awards for Powered Access was taken by Uwe Schneider of German rental company Mateco. It was taken at the medical association building in Hannover, Germany, where Hayko May Cleaning Company was cleaning the glass roof.

IAPA (International Awards for Powered Access) judges are looking for a spectacular or beautiful photograph that helps promote access equipment and/or highlights an important aspect of safety or productivity. The photo must show a real job where all relevant safety procedures are being followed. Generously sponsored by UK rental company Facelift Hire, IAPA awards will for the second time include an Access Photograph of the Year competition with a prize of €1000 for the best photo.

Deadline for photo submissions is Friday, February 1, 2013. Basic information should be included with the photo submission: date of photo, name of project, description of any machines, owner of platform and the client for the job.

The competition is not open to professional photographers or the media, and the prize will go to the individual operator, site worker, service engineer, delivery agent, trainer, trainee or manager who takes the best picture.

The photographs will be judged by the same panel assessing the other IAPA entries. The photograph should have been taken in the period between January, 2012 and the closing date of February 1, 2013.

Access International and IPAF will be allowed full use of any entered photographs.
